3. BACKGROUND AND LEGISLATION

Background

Everyone involved in an early childhood education and care service has a role to play in ensuring the service's operations are safe and without risk to the health and safety of all parties. In Victoria, health and safety in the workplace is governed by a system of laws, regulations and compliance codes that set out the responsibilities of employers and employees to ensure safety is maintained at work.

The Occupational Health and Safety Act 2004 (OHS Act) sets out the key principles, duties and rights in relation to workplace health and safety. The Occupational Health and Safety Regulations 2017 specifies the ways duties imposed by the OHS Act must be undertaken and prescribes procedural/administrative matters to support the OHS Act, such as requiring licenses for specific activities, or the need to keep records or notify authorities on certain matters.

The legal duties of an employer under the OHS Act are:

- to provide and maintain a workplace that is safe and without risk to the health of employees. This responsibility extends to contractors for routine tasks over which the employer has management. For contractors completing non-routine tasks, the employer must ensure that the service's daily operations and layout do not pose unreasonable risks
- to ensure other individuals, such as families and visitors, are not exposed to health and safety risks arising from the organisation's activities
- to consult with employees about OHS matters that will, or will likely, affect employees directly, including identifying hazards and assessing risks, and making decisions about risk control measures.

The OHS Act places the responsibility on employees for:

- taking care of their own safety and the safety of others who may be affected by their actions
- co-operating with reasonable OHS actions taken by the employer, including following guidelines, attending OHS-related training, reporting incidents, co-operating with OHS investigations, encouraging good OHS practice with fellow employees and others at the service, and assisting the employer with conducting OHS inspections during operating hours
- not interfering with safety equipment provided at the service, such as fire extinguishers.

ANMK Staff - Working From Home Guidance Note

The ANMK Committee President may agree to ANMK staff working from a site other than ANMK if the President is satisfied that this will be a suitable arrangement for ANMK and the staff member.

The following are considerations in the President agreeing to an ANMK staff member working from a site other than ANMK:

- The place where work is proposed to be performed must be suitable for the work to be performed.
- The place where work is proposed to be performed is compliant with ANMK's OH&S Policy and ANMK's obligations to provide a safe environment for staff to work. This includes the place having a suitable work area that is free from hazards and obstacles; a suitable work surface (e.g., office/computer desk), a suitable chair, access to a computer and telephone, adequate lighting, ventilation and heating and cooling, and smoke detectors installed and working properly.
- The request is generally compliant (where relevant) with all other ANMK policies and procedures.
- The proposed arrangement of staff working from home must not adversely affect teamwork (including not placing undue pressure on other staff members), the operations of ANMK or the ability of the employee to undertake required duties/
- Whether it would be more appropriate for a staff member to use a form of leave (for example, leave should be used when a staff member is unwell and cannot perform their usual duties at ANMK) unless the staff member has written notice from a qualified professional recommending work from another site.
- Whether or not the staff member would also have caring duties for another person present at the site (for example a child) at the time the proposed work is to be performed which may impact the staff member's ability to fully undertake their duties.

Agreement to work from another site

The President may decide to not agree to a request to work from a site other than ANMK if the President forms the view that the arrangement would be unsuitable after taking into account the above considerations.

Before agreeing to any request for a staff member to working from a site other than ANMK, the President may consult with other staff members and the ANMK Committee.

The President may agree to an arrangement for a staff member to work from another site other than ANMK for a single instance or for specific period of time.

The President may revoke any agreement for a staff member to work from a site other than ANMK if the President, after discussion with the staff member, forms the view that the arrangement is unsuitable for the employee or ANMK or is otherwise adversely affecting the operations of ANMK.

Requests to work from another site

For any request to work from a site other than ANMK, staff should submit a request in writing (via email) to the President outlining the request. This should include:

- A description of the proposed work site and work area including a self-assessment of compliance of the site against ANMK's OH&S policy. The request should either note that the staff member believes the site is compliant with ANMK's OH&S policy or should note any areas of concern or potential non-compliance.
- A description of the equipment and services that the staff member will use to work at the proposed work site. This should include information about any desk, chair, computer, telephone, internet connection, lighting, heating and cooling and any other equipment or services that will be used to enable the staff member to safely and effectively perform their duties from the proposed work site.

- Note: ANMK will not be responsible for providing equipment to enable a staff member work from a location other than ANMK (staff may be eligible for a tax deduction for any equipment purchased to enable working from home – staff should seek relevant advice on this from a qualified professional)
- The specific time and day (or times and days) covered by the request
- The period of time covered by the request (e.g. one day on one occasion or an arrangement for a longer period (e.g. one day per week for a month or term))

Once an arrangement is approved

- Where an employee is scheduled to work from a site other than ANMK and the employee is unable to perform work due to family responsibilities, illness or another reason, the employee is required to notify ANMK in the same manner the employee would notify ANMK if they were scheduled to work from ANMK.
- When working from a site other than ANMK, employees are responsible for maintaining confidentiality and security of personal and sensitive information. The employee must take steps to prevent any family, friends or other people accessing sensitive or personal information related to the employee's role with ANMK.
